

Furine® Vet

Groundbreaking New Innovation

Non-Invasive Fecal Management System

Imagine a daily routine with clean cages and far less time spent cleaning patients and equipment.

Furine Vet is a non-invasive, solution designed to comfortably collect seeping stool from animals with diarrhea.

Furine Vet features a skin-friendly, soft, and elastic adhesive coupling attached to the perianal skin, which safely diverts liquid stool into a collection bag. The product remains securely attached to the skin, while the collection bag can be easily replaced.

Furine Vet is a new non-invasive innovative solution within fecal management that helps to:

- protect the skin from diarrhea-related breakdown
- reduce risk of cross-contamination
- reduce the amount of time spent on hygiene-related tasks
- increase patient comfort and allow mobilization of patients
- improve clinical efficiency
- minimize odor

The Latest Solution for Fecal Incontinence

Testimonials from Veterinary Professionals

"The Furine Vet faecal collection systems have been a game changer for us in the ICU. The system has provided the nursing team with a safe and efficient way to protect our patients from faecal scolding associated with uncontrolled diarrhea in both ambulatory and non-ambulatory patients.

The variety in size of kits means we are able to fit the systems to most of our patients with ease, and the ability to cut the application site to fit different shaped breeds has been very helpful.

The system is very simple to apply and use and has saved the nursing team a lot of time when it comes to patient and kennel cleanliness. As they are completely external, it creates no risk to our patients internal GI system." (Veterinary nurse (UK), February 2026)

"Based on clinical experience to date, patients have appeared more comfortable, with no observed post-treatment irritation or trauma. Overall, we have found that Furine Vet products support patient welfare, enhance clinical efficiency, and improve functional outcomes, representing a valuable addition to existing fecal management options." (Veterinary nurse (UK), February 2026)
